This week in school:

Over the last week, we have been busy in class welcoming a number of visitors to support our learning. Children in Smeaton, Edgecumbe and Cadover classes experienced a History visitor where the children learned about the infamous Neil Armstrong in Reception and Archimedes in Edgecumbe and Cadover classes. On Wednesday, Tamar class had a visit from a historic Viking who taught the children how to play games, discuss a 'day in the life of' and also allowed the children to take part in a great Viking battle. The children engaged brilliantly and represented the school well. In addition to this, many classes have been able to engage in 'New Age Curling' workshops run by PSSP, where the children were able to play alongside each other, develop their skills and of course engage in some friendly competition against one another. Firestone and Smeaton will have their turn this week so look out for the photos!

Headteacher's Message:

Welcome to our new style weekly newsletter where we hope to share a snapshot of our week and some important upcoming information. We are keen to improve communication across the school and feel this will enable all parents and carers greater insight into our week in school. It has been great to see so many children earning Class Dojo points for great learning and behaviour in school, as well as lots of House Points for learning taking place at home. Thank you to all the parents and carers for making sure the reading, spellings and home learning is completed every week. It really does make such a difference and we value your support. Best Wishes, Mrs. Lenszner
